

“We’re honoured, tickled with our awards because in this category there are a lot of people doing some tremendous things,” says Eric Andreasen, Adera’s vice-president marketing and sales.

“We believe sustainability is not just the right thing to do but a responsibility we owe to our customers and they are the major benefactors.

“The Built Green BC Awards are third-party validation, a way for customers to affirm that we are making a serious effort, that we fully endorse the philosophy of the Built Green Society of Canada.”

Winners of the four other categories included: Golden’s HR Pacific Construction Management for Vista Lofts (Most Affordable Built Green BC Home); Summerland’s Homescape Building & Design for the Lang-Hodge Residence (Most Innovative Built Green BC Home); Whistler’s Schreyer Construction’s Khyber Home (Highest Rated Built Green BC Home); and Vancouver’s My House Design/Build Team for Dunbar Heritage (Best Whole House Renovation). ■

TOP: Whistler’s Schreyer Construction won Highest Rated Built Green BC Home for its Khyber Home.

CENTRE: Summerland’s Homescape Building & Design won Most Innovative Built Green Home for the Lang-Hodge residence.

LEFT: Golden’s HR Pacific Construction Management won Most Affordable Built Green BC Home.